5 Yanks Die Battling Reds In Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Five U.S. servicemen were killed and three wounded in combat helicopter operations over the Communist-infested Mekong Delta today.

The heaviest toll was in a turbine-powered UH-1 that apparently exploded in the air in an operation 90 miles southwest of Saigon. Four were killed and three wounded.

The other American killed was a door-gunner of an H-21 troop-carrying helicopter. He was hit by a Communist bullet in another operation. He was a private first class.

99 YANKS DIE

The deaths brought to 99 the number of American servicemen killed in combat in South Viet Nam since late 1961. U.S. service deaths from all causes now total 173.

Saigon authorities announced that a company of Vietnamese troops was heavily hit in a jungle ambush 20 miles northeast of this city by a strong Viet Cong force Wednesday.

Government losses included six dead, 31 wounded and 30 missing.

The attack by about 500 guerrillas was the heaviest in several weeks. The South Vietnamese company was ambushed as it entered a forest three miles from the town of Tan Uyen, at the edge of Communist-controlled territory.

The government said the company put up stiff resistance for several hours before it was overrun.

France Will Recognize Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — France has formally notified the United States that it intends to recognize Red China, authoritative sources said today.

The notification came through normal diplomatic channels. The issue was discussed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Harve Alphonse, the French ambassador, when the latter called on Rusk earlier this month.

There has been no formal reply to the French notification so far, but Rusk and his top aides in talks with Alphonse made it clear the United States takes an extremely dim view of France's intended action.

On December 12 The Associated Press reported from Harrisburg that the chemical company at Seven Stars apparently will await the next meeting of the state commission at Harrisburg on January 26 and 28, according to news reports from Harrisburg today.

A spokesman for the Hercules Alcor Company said today that his company did not receive the state notice until about December 12 and the letter of notification set December 26 as the deadline for the filing of plans at Harrisburg.

ASKED EXTENSION

"Our immediate response," the spokesman said, "was to write for a two-month extension but that letter has never been answered. New plans take time, thinking and money and a knowledge of what will or will not be required as air pollution."

At Harrisburg at the office of the Air Pollution Control Commission, it was said that the matter of the Seven Stars firm's failure to comply with the "request, not an order" for plans would be reviewed by the commission at its meeting this month. The Alcor firm's request for a time extension also would go before the commission, it was explained, because the secretary would not have had the authority to grant such an extension.

Miss Doyle, who plans to become an elementary teacher, has served at Gettysburg High School as homeroom president for two years, captain of cheerleaders for two years, vice president of the National Thespians, assistant editor-in-chief of the Future Teachers of America and of the choir, and last year won a commendation and appreciation for her work as prom decoration committee member for the Junior-Senior prom. She also is president of her Y-Teens Club and a member of the St. James Lutheran Church Luther League.

Miss N. Louise Ramer, guidance counselor at the high school here, introduced Miss Doyle.

HEAR HENRY ROTH

The Public Relations Committee headed by Miss L. Myrtle Stauffer and including Mrs. Philip Hughes, Mrs. John Basehore and Miss Freda Troxell, was in charge of the program. G. Henry Roth of The Gettysburg Times spoke on public relations and lauded Miss Stauffer and her committee for seeing that reports of the meetings of the organization are "in to The Times first thing in the morning," and are complete as to names and activities.

To Show Film On Divine Liturgy

The Gettysburg Orthodox Fellowship, marking the first anniversary of its founding, will present a motion picture "The Divine Liturgy" Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the community room of the West St. branch of the Gettysburg National Bank.

The film will feature the divine liturgy of the Eastern Orthodox Church and was filmed at St. Sophia Greek Orthodox Cathedral in Los Angeles. There will be no charge to attend.

Greek pastries and other refreshments will be served free.

AT STATE MEETING

Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, Gettysburg, who is a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Heart Association, was in Harrisburg Thursday to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the state association.

Plans were made for the annual Heart Fund drive in the state, beginning in February. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Palmer are honorary chairmen of the state campaign.

BLOOD DONORS

Blood donors at the Warner Hospital from January 8-15 were Earl White and Richard Weaver, Gettysburg.

2 Nations See Some Hope Of Settling Dispute Over New Panama Canal Treaty

By ROBERT BERRELLER
PANAMA (AP) — Panama and the United States remained deadlocked today in their bitter dispute over the Panama Canal. Neither government budged an inch, but neither government did anything to make the situation worse.

High sources in American and Panamanian official quarters said there was a slight hope that some formula would be found to get the two governments together again.

Reports from Washington said U.S. diplomatic troubleshooters were working behind the scenes in the U.S. capital and in Panama.

MANUFACTURERS WITH GAS

Manuel Trucco, chairman of U.S.-Panamanian committee established under the auspices of the Organization of American States, met Thursday with Panamanian President Roberto Chiari and Foreign Minister

Later Trucco reportedly met with Edwin M. Martin, the chief U.S. negotiator, in the effort to resolve the crisis.

Chiari made no move to carry out his threat to call his embassy staff home from Washington and demand the departure of U.S. diplomats from Panama.

This would complete the rupture of diplomatic relations he broke last Friday during the violence along the Canal Zone in which 19 Panamanians and four U.S. soldiers were killed.

WANT NEW PACT

Official Panamanian sources had said Chiari would complete the break unless the United States agreed to negotiate a new treaty to replace the 1903 pact giving it perpetual control of the Canal Zone.

In Washington, the White House reaffirmed U.S. willingness to discuss all issues with Panama. But Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign

Committee that the United States

G. E. ERNST, 49, DIES THURSDAY

George E. Ernst, 49, 36 E. King St., Littlestown, died at the Warner Hospital here at 11:20 o'clock Thursday evening. He had been admitted as a patient Thursday after a long illness.

He was a chef at the Yorktowne Hotel in York.

He was a son of the late John L. and Lottie (Schott) Ernst. He is survived by his wife, Louise Weaver Ernst, and three children, Lawrence E., Farmingtondale, N. Y.; Mrs. John Jacobs, Littlestown, and Allan F., at home. There are six grandchildren.

Eight brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Mark Berkheimer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mrs. Maynard Sipe, Helen M. Ernst, John A., Joseph H., Robert W., and Mrs. Horace Farley, all of Hanover.

He was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church at Littlestown and of the Holy Name Society. He was a veteran of World War II in the U.S. Army and was a member of the American Legion post of Hanover.

Funeral services Monday morning at 9:30 a.m. at the funeral home followed by a Requiem Mass at 10 o'clock at St. Aloysius Catholic Church with the Rev. Dr. John E. Metz, pastor, officiating. Interment will be made in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Little Funeral Home Sunday evening where prayers will be recited at 8 p.m. by Dr. Metz.

Two Parked Cars Suffer Damages

Two "hit and run" accidents were reported to police. At 8:15 Thursday night Irene Kuhn, Biglerville R. 1, reported that an unknown vehicle had scraped paint from the side of her car while it was parked in the first block of York St. and continued on without stopping.

Nancy Cornelius, Gettysburg College, reported Thursday at noon that, while her car was parked Sunday night on the south side of W. Lincoln Ave., some other vehicle had apparently struck it, damaging the left fender. Damage was estimated at $50.

The borough also received a report Thursday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, that a vehicle had knocked over a street sign at Fourth and York Sts.

Waives Alimony But Does Better

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former schoolteacher Donna R. Ferguson has received a divorce settlement her lawyers say is better than alimony.

She waived alimony Thursday in divorcing Robert B. Ferguson, 40, an oil geologist.

Under terms of a division of community property, each will draw $105,000 cash now and $40,000 per month thereafter. That will give both an annual income of $480,000, plus an extra $105,000 this year.

The arrangement will continue if Mrs. Ferguson remarries. Alimony doesn't continue.

Mrs. Ferguson, 31, charged extreme cruelty. The couple married May 11, 1956, in San Gabriel, Calif., and separated last Oct. 15.

COLLIDE IN SQUARE

A station wagon operated by Charles Kranias, 104 Johns Ave., and a tractor-trailer operated by Billy J. Davis, of Alabama, collided in Lincoln Square Thursday afternoon at 3:15, according to the borough police report. There was no damage to the tractor-trailer and about $150 to the station wagon. According to the police report the parties settled the matter between themselves.

One Dead, Five Hurt In Maryland Blaze

RIVERDALE, Md. (AP) — Fire swept a two-story house in the Lakeland community today, taking one life and injuring five persons, including four firemen. Mrs. Mazie Fields, 27, was pronounced dead at Leland Memorial Hospital of smoke inhalation.

Two firemen were treated at the same hospital for smoke inhalation and two other firemen were treated at Prince Georges County General Hospital, one for burns on his hands and the other for smoke inhalation.

Robert Fields, 39, suffered a broken arm. He was taken to Prince Georges Hospital.

Causes of the fire, which apparently started on the second floor, is under investigation.

Man Indicted For Death Of Infant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 29-year-old operator of an unlicensed nursery home pleaded guilty to manslaughter Friday in the death of a 10-month-old boarder.

Theodore Wittenberg, who ran the Ingleside Home, was ordered to appear in Superior Court Feb. 13 for sentencing.

Police said Wittenberg told them that on New Year's Day he was squeezing the boy to make him stop crying. He said he "felt something pop," officials said.

An autopsy showed the boy, son of Mrs. Marilyn Bailey, of Bellflower, died of a ruptured liver. The boy's father, Robert Bailey, lives in Kellogg, Idaho.

PARISH WOMEN HOLD SESSION

At a meeting of the Parish Council of Catholic Women Thursday evening in St. Francis Xavier School Mrs. George Eberhart outlined arrangements for a card party to be held in Xavier Hall Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Prizes will include a complete dinner and breakfast and many other articles.

The annual deaconess meeting and election of officers will be held in Chambersburg March 15, it was announced. The deaconess Day of Recollection is scheduled for February 16 at St. Joseph's Academy, McSherrystown. Responsibility for conducting the nursery during the 9, 10:30 and noon Masses on Sundays has been taken over by the Sodality. Mrs. Lawrence Eckert, parent-family-education committee chairman, announced. Mrs. Charles Pitzer reported that 900 hours were expended on social action by members of the parish council from last July through December.

Mrs. Edwin Killalea, library committee chairman, reported the acquisition of 330 new children's books for the school and parish library. She said that the school children are making good use of the library and expressed the hope that many more members of the parish would avail themselves of the excellent collection of adult books in the library. In observance of Catholic Press Month, February, Mrs. Killalea said the school children will be encouraged to submit posters and essays on books and that book prizes would be awarded for the best work.

NEW LIBRARY REFERENDUM

The commissioners received a court order directing that the county pay $2,000 into the Adams County law library fund.

The commissioners were told that a group from the Adams County Public Library plans to meet with them in the near future concerning the annual appropriation to the library. Commissioner Motter, in the discussion, indicated his belief that with the bookmobile reaching so many people in the county the question of a special one-mill tax for library support should possibly be put to a county referendum again to "put the library on a sound financial basis."

The resignation of Mrs. E. Horaine Cramer as bookkeeper, effective January 31, was accepted.

PA. HISTORICAL COMMISSION NEEDS FUNDS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, complaining of a fairly common problem—it thinks its budget is too small—observed its 50th anniversary Thursday.

The commission met at Philadelphia's Union League Building, where it was founded half a century ago.

Dr. S. K. Stevens, the commission's executive director, reviewed Gov. William W. Scranton's budget for 1964-65. He noted that the budget called for an increase of $300,000, but most of it will go into its new building in Harrisburg.

BUDGETING STRANGULATION

And, he said, most of the remaining $85,000 is committed for other new or expanded projects and as a result, "The net increase amounts to practically nothing in the operating budget."

James B. Stevenson, publisher of the Titusville Herald and chairman of the commission, summed up the commission's mood on finances:

"We have been subjected to budgetary strangulation."

Stevens said the commission was concerned that while his group was forced to take a cut in its requested increase, "The University of Pennsylvania museum has been granted for the first time the sum of $100,000 for museum programs."

CANT OPERATE

He added, "We think this is money which should be spent on the state museum program before the state starts new subdivisions for nonstate programs."

The commission decided to voice its complaints about finances before appropriate legislative committees.

Stevenson said the state thought enough of the commission and its work to spend $9 million in the new museum building "but not enough to operate it."

Rhodesian Will Speak On Sunday

Rev. Mapendula Moyo, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, presently a student at Messiah College, Grantham, will be the speaker at the Iron Springs Church of the Brethren Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, according to the announcement by the pastor, Rev. James Lester.

Rev. Moyo is studying this year in America under a joint scholarship plan of the Brethren in Christ World Missions Board and Messiah College. He is headmaster at the Waney Boys Boarding School, Southern Rhodesia, and has served as secretary of the church executive committee in that country.

He is perhaps best known for interpreting between English and his native language, Sindebele, and served as interpreter for Billy Graham during the latter's crusade in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, in 1960.

"HOW MUCH YOU MEAN"

Oh girl of mine how wonderful . . . it is to have you near . . . for you are everything worthwhile . . . so tender and sincere . . . each time I take you in my arms . . . I hold a treasure rare . . . someone who truly understands . . . someone willing to share . . . you are the harbor of my heart . . . wherein I find contentment . . . when I'm with you I leave behind . . . all traces of resentment . . . would that these words could only say . . . what lingers in my heart . . . mere words seem so inadequate . . . but I'll try to impart . . . the warmth, the bliss, the happiness . . . answering each plea . . . hoping you will realize . . . how much you mean to me.

ACCUSE LEADER

A seven-party alliance opposing Chiari's Liberal party in the May 10 presidential election injected the canal dispute into the campaign by accusing the president of backing down from his original firm stand for U.S. concessions.

The alliance, backing the presidential candidacy of Juan de Arco Galindo, demanded a U.S. commitment to negotiate a new canal treaty.

Chiari is not eligible for re-election. His party is backing Marco Robles in a seven-man race.

The Canal Zone was reopened Thursday as the zone's military chief, Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara returned his soldiers to their camps after giving back control of the zone to Gov. Robert J. Fleming, Jr.

THEOLOGIAN

Rev. Reinberger appealed to the group to "become missionaries of your library" in telling the community about its services and encouraging more people to use the facilities.

ADULT READING INCREASES

Librarian Mrs. Mary S. Wilson reported that adult reading in Adams County has increased 23 per cent in the past year and reviewed the progress of the library from its beginning in 1946 in rented rooms on Carlisle St. to the purchase of the present building on E. High St. in 1949 and the expansion and building program which was instituted last fall. She said, "Each new advancement was made necessary by the demands of the public for library and facilities."

Joseph T. Dobrasky, director of the Library Service sponsored by the state, reported that the LSA Bookmobile, which was placed in service last March, travels 6,000 miles a month to distribute 3,500 books to 42 communities every two weeks. He said that Bonneaville has become the busiest stop, where patrons spend an average of two and a half hours choosing an average of 600 books during each visit. He anticipates that 40,000 books will have been circulated through the bookmobile by the end of 1964. The LSA program will continue through another year.

Dr. Ralph Blasingame, state librarian, who was responsible for selecting Adams County for the LSA program, said, "The completion of your new building will mark the end of one area and the beginning of another." The new addition will be dedicated during National Library Week in April.

REPORTS FINANCES

Dr. F. N. Hewetson, finance chairman, reported that in 1946 the library was operated on a budget of $8,385 compared with a total of $69,189 in 1963, $24,300 of which was made available by the LSA program. He added, "The county has contributed more than a half-million dollars to the growth and maintenance of the library over the years, indicating its interest in its development." He added that "the amount of local support has a distinct bearing on what we get from the state" and pointed out that bookmobile service is taken to within 10 miles of every family in the county in an effort to help to develop the community and make better citizens who are able to understand their fellowman and the world."

Persons attending the meeting included County Commissioners Atlee F. Rebert, Harrison G. Fair and G. Edwin Motter, Senator D. Elmer Hawbaker and Assemblyman Harry D. Ridinger. Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner, newly-elected president of the Friends of the Library, was introduced.

The dinner meeting and program were arranged by C. P. Keefer, former superintendent of county schools and a director of the library for many years. Rev. Robert A. MacAskill gave the invocation.

Child Prodigy

Was Aided By Dr. Doo's Sister

David Oei, 13-year-old child prodigy who appeared on a TV program Tuesday evening as guest pianist with the Peabody Symphony Orchestra, Baltimore, was discovered seven years ago by Dr. Gerald K. Doo's sister, Mrs. B. K. Chew, a piano teacher in Hong Kong.

David played one movement from Mozart's Concerto in Tuesday night's performance and played the entire Concerto this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the student concert at Peabody Conservatory.

Mrs. Chew was so impressed by David's talent at the age of six that she took him as a private pupil, developed him and brought him to the attention of Professor Munz, then associated with the Peabody Conservatory, when he visited Japan. After hearing him play, Munz offered him free scholarship at Peabody School.

RAISED $1,500

Prof. Munz now is a member of the faculty at Juilliard School of Music, New York, and goes to Baltimore weekly to give David private lessons.

In order that the young musician could accept the scholarship, the Hong Kong orchestra sponsored a benefit performance two years ago to raise $1,500 to send the boy and his mother, Mrs. Lucy Oei, to the U.S. He is a pupil at the Baltimore Friends School and Peabody. He won the Intermediate Musicianship Scholarship last summer to attend the National Musicians' Camp, Interlochen, Mich., and will return to study there next summer.

David has an older brother in China.

SEN. YOUNG SEES VICTORY

Stephen M. Young accepted the challenge of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. today and predicted his own re-election to a second term as Democratic senator from Ohio.

The 74-year-old Young, in a statement, made no reference to the formal announcement by the first American to orbit the earth, that will seek the Democratic nomination for young's second seat.

But he said, "I know I'll be renominated on May 5 at the Democratic primary. I expect to be elected."

In similar fashion, but applying his comments specifically to the entry of the astronaut into the competition, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. said that development will make no difference in his own plans to try for the same Senate seat.

As if taking his Democratic renomination for granted, Young declared:

"This year following my nomination, I shall be confronted with another hard uphill campaign for election as senator. My opponent will be either Robert Taft Jr. or Ohio's popular secretary of state, Ted Brown."

Musselman Memorial Gymnasium At Biglerville High School To Be Dedicated Thursday Evening: One of the largest high school basketball floors in southern Pennsylvania will be dedicated in Biglerville next

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when the keys and title to the new Musselman Memorial gymnasium are turned over to representatives of the Upper

Adams School board, governing body of the joint school district's Biglerville high school.

The playing floor to be used for high school basketball games measures 42 by 90 feet.

Folding bleachers ranged along the walls will seat 1,000 students and spectators when all sections are extended.

An electric score board and timekeeper's stop-clock, actuated by remote control, will keep basketball fans abreast of the play as all future home games are played on the new floor.

An eight-ton folding door, electrically operated, can be closed to divide the playing floor into two regulation basketball courts. This will permit

both boys' and girls' gym classes holding simultaneous sessions in the separated areas.

The new gymnasium was designed by Architect J. Alfred

Hammie, of York, who has the entire building program of the Upper Adams School district

under his professional supervision. This building is one of a series of units that the school board has planned for Biglerville.

Turnips Growing On Coffelt

Farm: The first of the Adams county turnip "crop" for 1949 is being harvested this week by the Rev. C. M. Coffelt, Highland township, Gettysburg R. 2.

The Rev. Mr. Coffelt, who gave a half peck of the turnips to friends here, said he had about two bushels of growing turnips in his garden.

Credit for the turnips, a fall crop, is given to the comparatively mild winter being experienced here to date.

Today's Talk

There is no happiness quite equal to that which results from doing something to make someone else happy. Especially is this happiness richly returned when that something is appreciated.

Society is held together by the unselfishness of the majority, who think and work in terms of the greatest good to the greatest number. I have never known a person to be happy who took no interest in others.

We all know of men who have accumulated great wealth who never knew happiness until they had learned that devotion to the public — to others — is the road that leads to it. All too many learn this too late.

The most successful businesses and industrial concerns are those where the management has worked and thought out the most benefits for each and every worker. People always do their best work when they are happy.

In all tragic emergencies, others occupy our mind. Their safety is uppermost. Every true public servant is an agent for others. If he isn't he is not a servant, but a hired slave.

It is not always popular to take up the cause of others — especially if they represent the majority. Yet most great reforms have come about by risings from minority rootage. How often the despised of yesterday have become the revered of today! Why? Because they gave of their strength and substance to the welfare of others.

What we do for others is not always evidenced in appreciation. But that is not essential to our happiness. It's the act — unselfishly performed — that we do for others, that is its own compensation. I can think of no nobler example of the one who devoted his life to others, than that of the old fashioned country doctor. But did you ever hear of one of them who ever became rich in money?

A family in a foreign land, wishing to send a holiday greeting to some friends at home, and wishing to save cable tolls, finally decided upon the single word — Others. As though suggesting, by this word, that the supreme act of unselfishness was to do something for others, and so wished to emphasize the fact in this one word.

ABOUT DOGS

I like the homely yellow dog. That no one wants to steal, That pup of doubtful parentage That follows close at heel; The comfortable dog that romps With genuine delight And has no beauty to be lost When he is moved to fight.

Oh, you may have your thoroughbred.
Yours dogs of fancy stock,
I'll take the mongrel pup instead.
That romps the city block.
For if he runs when I get home
To wag his tail at me,
We two can be the best of friends
Without a pedigree.

Give me the sturdy, common dog.
That's not inclined to roar,
But should it prompt me to stray,
Can find his own way home.
Your handsome dog is whimsical,
Twill often stop to bide
With strangers, who await the day
You offer a reward.

I'll take the homely, faithful pup
Devoted to us all,
Who has no wish to run away
Or heed a stranger's call.
And though his legs imperfect are,
His body queer to see,
He'll make up in devotion what
He lacks in pedigree.

Mrs. Dayton Mason, Harrisburg road, reports that on Friday she picked a dandelion in full bloom in her garden.

Mrs. M. T. Dill Dies Suddenly: Mrs. Lillian Dill, wife of Dr. Matthew T. Dill, Biglerville dentist, was stricken suddenly while driving her auto on Penn street in Biglerville about noon today and was dead when Dr. P. J. McGlynn, Biglerville physician who was summoned immediately, arrived at the scene.

Reports stated that Mrs. Dill, taken suddenly ill, drove her car to the side of the street and stopped before she lost consciousness.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, was called to investigate.

Mrs. Dill was accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Kuhn, Biglerville, when she was stricken. The car was stopped about one block west of the Dill home which is on the main street in Biglerville.

She had been in her usual health this morning.

JOINED FERRY COMMAND

At the end of the 10-month training course, Elizabeth was assigned to the Ferry Command at New Castle, Del., Army Air Base, to ferry PT19s and 26s from plants near Fairchild plant at Hagerstown to primary training bases. During the five months she remained there she also delivered observation planes from the Piper plant in Lock Haven to various bases in the U. S. and Canada.

In the spring of 1944 she was transferred to Kansas City, Kan., to move B25 and C47 bombers from plants near Fairchild Field, Kans., and Oklahoma City, Okla., to southern and eastern bases for shipment to Europe, Africa and Asia. The B25 cruised at 250 miles an hour and in action was staffed by a nine-man crew. The C47 cruised at 190 miles an hour and in action was staffed by a four-man crew.

Elizabeth was sent to Douglas AFB, Ariz., as a utility and training pilot. She was assigned to a Curtis AT9, which had been designed originally as a carrier trainer for Navy pilots. Later it was used by the Army for training.

She recalls that it had a speed of 110 miles an hour "climbing, cruising and landing." It had been abandoned by the Navy because the tail would not withstand the stress of carrier landings. "In other words," she explains, "the arresting gear pulled its tail off."

USE OF FOREIGN AID FUNDS MAY BRING DEBATES

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The one-third cut that Congress made in the administration's proposed foreign aid program may hamper some future spending. But for the near term the money should roll out in about the same volume as if Congress hadn't wielded the paring knife.

The fight this year will be more than ever over the principles involved in economic aid and the effects on the American and world economies, first of the outflow of U.S. dollars, a second of the uses other lands make of it.

FOREIGN AID SLICE

The administration had asked $4.5 billion in new money for foreign aid, military and economic, and Congress cut this to $3 billion. This slice was the largest percentage in the history of the postwar program.

But the dispensers have $400 million still unobligated from the 1963 fiscal year appropriation of $3.9 billion. Also some $7 billion already obligated for specific programs but still unspent is available.

The more critical effect of the congressional vote may lie in its imposing new conditions on what money can be given to specific countries.

AID FROM INDUSTRY

The debate which is sure to come up this year may go farther along those lines but also include moves to switch more of the help for developing countries from U.S. government funds to private investment.

How such help is now distributed is discussed by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York in its January survey.

Total government and private flow of straight economic aid from the industrialized world to the less developed lands in 1961 is put at $3.1 billion, with $4.5 billion of that coming from the United States.

The American contribution included $1.5 billion of govern-

WILL BRING GREAT SEAL UP TO DATE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives is about to remove the Star of David from its official seal and take cognizance of the statehood of Alaska and Hawaii.

A resolution passed without opposition last Dec. 18 called for an outlay of about $700 to cut the die for a new Great Seal and procure a new mechanical gadget to impress the seal on official House papers and documents.

The old seal, the House Adminstration Committee pointed out has been in continuous use since 1912, when it was cut after the admission of Arizona as the 48th state. Around its edge are 48 stars—one for each state—and all are of the six-pointed variety known as the Star of David. The resolution that provided for the old seal said the stars should have six points.

TWO MORE STATES

The new seal will have 50 stars, the two extra ones being for Alaska and Hawaii. While the resolution didn't say how many points the stars shall have, they will have five points.

There will be another change.

The old seal bore a view of the Capitol as it looked in 1830 when it was far from finished.

The new view will show the Capitol as it now looks, with its extended east front. It also will show the Statue of Freedom which tops the Capitol dome but wasn't there in 1830.

TO MIX GUMBO, POLITICS AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has invited Sen. Allen Ellender to cook up some Louisiana gumbo at the White House.

While the gumbo's cooking, Johnson will mix politics with pleasure and try to stir up some votes for his foreign aid program.

The invitation came Thursday after Johnson pushed a button to lay the keel of the first highly automated ship at a New Orleans shipyard.

TO DISCUSS AID

After his brief speech, Johnson turned to Ellender and began a discussion of farm problems and foreign aid. Ellender, Louisiana Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, is a frequent critic of foreign aid.

Reporters heard Johnson ask, "When are you going to cook me some of that gumbo I like?"

Ellender, a bachelor, is famous as a chef in preparing Louisiana delicacies. He said he would cook for the President anytime and anywhere Johnson desired.

"There's no better place than the White House," said Johnson. "Let's do it soon. We'll invite some other members of Congress and we can have a good long talk about foreign aid."

Restaurateurs Should Learn To Spell

According to culinary historians, this sauteed chicken dish was first concocted at the time of the battle of Marengo in Northern Italy when Napoleon routed the Austrian Army. Epicures sometimes quibble over the exact moment of the dish's original preparation. Was it before, during or after the battle? This hair splitting may well be ignored and attention paid to composing the food in classic fashion.

Escoffier's Mareno Sauce for the sauteed chicken includes white wine, tomatoes, mushrooms, truffles and garlic. American versions of this dish calling for artichoke hearts, chives or pimiento-stuffed olives should not be termed Chicken Mareno.

Sermon For The Week

By REV. DONALD G. ROEMER

Pastor, York Springs Church of God

God likes to keep things simple, and at a minimum. Man likes to add to and confuse the picture, thus making it hard for himself. Through Christ, God has made the shortest, route home (Heaven). But man wants to climb up some other way. God has made the way too simple for many folks, and thus they stumble through life hoping to make Heaven their home. Some young converts I know are enjoying their new found liberty in Christ, while folks that have been around the church for years refuse to humble themselves as a little child, and become converted.

God planned a very simple birth for His Son, a birth in a stable. God also had a very small town (Nazareth) for this boy to grow up in, and with very common parents, Joseph and

"SIMPLE NAME"

God gave a very simple name, Jesus, to His Son. For this carpenter's son, born of the Holy Spirit, was to save God's people from their sin, with a very simple Gospel. One Lord, one faith, one baptism.

It was said, the common people heard this man Jesus gladly for He spoke with authority.

He spoke the truth in a nutshell.

His gospel was only hid to those that were blind, and deaf, and wanted to stay that way.

The rich young ruler went away sorrowful after meeting Jesus, for he could not reduce his life to such a common denominator.

But Mary Magdalena, out of whom he cast seven devils, found the way of the Healer

the only way.

This new Teacher reduced the law to loving God with all one's heart, soul, mind and strength.

And secondly, to love one's neighbor as Jesus had loved them. It was said of Him He loved His own until the end.

Jesus knew how to reduce conversation, prayer and action to their simplest forms: The Lord's Prayer. His sayings on the 12 disciples were all expressed in the simplest, God - honoring language. Abraham Lincoln learned this lesson so well from the Book he loved so much.

With a simple faith in the cross of Christ, one can have

FAMILY WINS THIRD MAJOR SHOW AWARD

By JACK LYNCH

Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG (AP) — The Rishels of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, York, are becoming the New York Yankees of beef cattle competition at the State Farm Show.

They picked up their third major championship in as many years when 19-year-old William Rishel showed a 965-pound Angus steer to the 4-H, open class Angus and Best of the Show titles within a few hours Thursday.

And he did it by beating his brother, Richard, 16, who had the 4-H and open class champion shorthorn, and his father, Edward Sr., who had the open class champion Hereford.

SECOND FOR BILL

Never before had a family so dominated judging in the major event at the farm show, according to officials.

For William, it was his second straight show championship. He lost out in the 4-H competition last year, but showed another Angus steer to the big title.

His brother, Edward Jr., 22, won the 4-H baby beef championship in 1962 with a shorthorn. William won the 4-H reserve championship that year with an Angus.

Other Rishel victories in the past included Richard's 4-H reserve championship in 1961 and the same boy's show reserve grand championship in 1959.

RECORD PRICE LIKELY

The Rishel address in York is the same as the White House in Washington.

The family operates a 115 acre farm, producing about 75 steers every year.

William bought his steer from his father for $130 for his 4-H project last February. Richard bought his champion shorthorn elsewhere for $120.

William could expect a record price for his steer at today's sales when most of the show's livestock entries go under the auctioneer's hammer.

JUDGING WAS HIGHLIGHT

Last year's price was a record high $412 a pound. Edward Jr. received $411 for his shorthorn champion in 1962.

The 4-H and best-of-show beef cattle judging was the principal event of Thursday's program which drew an estimated 155,000 visitors to the 48th annual farm show.

The crowd, including many who were unable to attend earlier in the week because of the

OTHER FAMILY RECORDS

Robert Brown of West Chester won the 4-H tractor competition and Clyde Rogers of Slippery Rock R. 3 won in the FFA class.

Two other families boasted three victories in various competitions.

Clark W. Stahl of Somerset R. D. and his two sons, Ernest and George, were first, second and fourth in high yield per acre for potatoes grown on five acres or more.

Three members of a Potter County family — the brothers Robert, John and Wayne Fowler — were first, second and third in high potato production in 4-H or FFA projects.

Keeping pace with the unusual at this year's show was the sale of the champion dressed turkey at a record $15 a pound, bringing a total of $495.

GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY HAS NEW MUSEUM

By JOHN A. BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Geographic Society — after 75 years of digging into the world's past and present secrets — has some new, proud fects.

The globe dominates Explorers Hall — and is set in a black granite reflecting pool, where it rotates on its axis. Among the special effects possible through the console's operation: a satellite spinning about the earth.

The operator of the control console can also project images on the globe's surface — for instance an outline map of Texas on the globe's Alaska can show that Alaska is the biggest state. The Mississippi can likewise be compared directly with the Amazon River.

Besides the globe, the museum sports life-size displays — an underground ceremonial chamber of the Pueblo Indians, a plastic face overlaying the skull of Zinjanthropus suggests the appearance of a man-type who lived 1.75 million years ago.

All of these and others are the discoveries of famous explorers and scientists who have carried the National Geographic's colors into every corner of the world.

Construction of the building designed by Edward Durrell Stone was started April 20, 1961. It adjoins the society's old headquarters about six blocks north of the White House.

Let's Look At The Record

BRITAIN SHIRKS DUTY
United Kingdom Defaults On Her Share
Of Men And Arms For Winning Cold War

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

GREAT BRITAIN now proposes to reduce her share of troops for the defense of Europe. She cannot maintain her assigned NATO strength, England argues. It has never been large.

To herself and her allies, Britain today nurtures the impression that she is now a very small country indeed and can no longer man the ramparts for the maintenance of a world peace. Others must do it.

The bitter truth is an unwillingness to man her own ramparts. Why should she worry when it is obvious that America will defend her by way of underwriting our own security? This seems to be her growing philosophy.

One need have but few conversations with Englishmen or a casual study of their current publications to discover these attitudes.

WHEN PRESIDENT Johnson has his forthcoming conversations with Sir Alec Home, the latter should be confronted with the fact that Great Britain is not pulling her weight, or contributing her share, toward maintenance of the grand alliance against the chronic and constant threats of Russian aggression.

It has been shown again and again that in diplomatic negotiations success is to the nation or group of nations who can and do negotiate from strength.

Great Britain is deliberately defaulting on her share of that strength. It is being done right while Russia is troubled by crop failures and showing signs of being weary of the cold war arms race. Evidence of a similar weariness in Great Britain weakens America's hand in all future negotiations.

Meanwhile, Great Britain is demanding a major and larger role in all diplomatic decisions. Can Mr. Johnson be counted upon to tell Sir Alec that if Britain deliberately reduces herself to the strength of a third rate power, her voice in diplomatic decisions will receive third rate consideration?

There are ample statistics in support of such a blunt statement.

FROM A POPULATION of 187 million, America is keeping in uniform, many of them overseas, no less than 2,800,000 officers and men.

From a population of more than 53,000,000, Great Britain's comparable armed forces total only 484,000 officers and men.

Of these 34,000 of the army of officers and men are in Gurkha and colonial battalions.

Were Great Britain (North Ireland, Scotland, England and Wales) maintaining a ratio comparable to that of the United States, there would be in British uniform no less than 800,000 from within the United Kingdom.

Moreover, the present British strengths are declining. There is no sign that the trend is to be arrested.

THE SHRINKAGE of the once proud British Navy is nothing short of appalling. In manpower it has decreased a fourth since 1957 — from 133,000 to an even 100,000. In personnel and number of fighting ships, the American Coast Guard, ignored in the above American total, is a fourth as large as the entire British navy.

Only two of Britain's five aircraft carriers are in the 45,000 tons class. The remaining three average 25,000 tons. Though built in 1951 and 1955, both the two larger English carriers are comparatively slow and have conventional motive power. America has built nothing since 1950 that is not 60,000 tons or better, with speeds of at least 35 knots.

Except for two unique "commando ships," England has been selling off and scrapping her more conventional ships and replacing them with little or nothing. She is now down to 5 cruisers (two of them of 1938 vintage), 27 destroyers, 5 frigates and only 49 submarines.

One of the submarines has an American type, atomic plant. One destroyer has guided missiles.

Britain's present building program calls for 4 new, guided-missile destroyers, 14 frigates and 6 submarines.

At present Britain's fleet is utterly inadequate for keeping open her own narrow waters against any appreciable fraction of the 400 submarines Russia is believed to have operational in the Baltic and Barents Seas.

Apparently the present English philosophy is that in a future war, ship losses can be greatly reduced by a policy of scrapping and non-replacement well in advance of the outbreak of hostilities.

A comparable post-war shrinkage of the British army will be reviewed next week.

appear once each week, for ten weeks.

Were you to follow along, you could lose ten pounds in a month — 30 pounds by Easter time. A bit could be added to the figure's height, a lot to its grace.

Let's take the initial steps at once:

• Needing to lose weight, begin today to limit your calorie allotment. Aim for a daily total of between 1,200 to 1,500 calories. If you can manage the full cut-back without discomfort on the first try, that's all to the good. Otherwise ease into your diet. Allow a week to lower your food intake to the reducing level.

• The best way to start work on heavy spots is to "oil" creamy joints and muscles. Trimming bulges requires some exercise and, when you are flexible, results come quicker. Here's an effective limbering routine: Do six deep-knee bends, lowering body to touch heels. With maximum stretch in waist, roll shoulders around body—five times to left, and five to right.

• For more graceability, look to your posture: Center weight on balls of feet, pull up tall, tuck hips under body, draw shoulders down and stretch neck up. Make a habit of the stance, and willowiness just naturally follows. You then look taller and you may become a full inch taller.

Of course, you may not need to take all three steps. But if you do, make the effort. Figure meals can't be won by half measures!

Case History Of A Bachelor

The Market Place

By JEAN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Circulating too freely in the non-singlemindedness of unmarried women are more than 19 million bachelors who look, look for neat numbers for their little black books.

Where? Church? The office? Among the prospects of match-making friends?

Everywhere — but with certain reservations, says Bernard Gurtner, a 32-year-old eligible who has made an unscientific study of the social habits of his kind.

At the church meetings are the same girls he's always known in his community. Bernie does not believe in office romances or wooing his pretty lady clients. Business and romance are an explosive mixture, he says.

THE PUBLIC DANCE

Especially in the big cities across the country the social phenomenon has arisen called the public dance with the specific purpose of bringing lonely unmarrieds together socially.

"On Friday afternoons I tear out the page in the tabloids and start to plan my weekend," says a 47-year-old ready-to-wear sales man who has not abandoned the idea of marriage. The dances are enumerated there.

On a weekend in New York City alone are more than 150 such events divided by their sponsors into people of the same general background. Dance admittance may limit to persons 20-35; or 25 to 40; or "over 29" (which can be a euphemism for doddering old age); or to persons of certain religion or foreign extraction; or with college diplomas; or specific cultural interests, professions.

HELLO THERE!

"I can tell when a girl walks into these dances whether she will have a good time," says Bernie, the expert. "Negativism registers on her face. A girl has to be positive, and a little aggression isn't bad either."

"Girls don't understand men," he contends. "Men are deathly afraid of rejection. A refusal might ruin their whole evening. That's why a pleasant countenance means so much. It's encouraging."

Traveling in packs is a mistake, he says. Men are afraid of being refused in front of other girls. As for traveling in twos, two men seldom see two girls that they both like. To ask one leaves the other girl stranded a bachelor so long.

ed. No, the lone wolfes travels fastest."

Bachelor Bernie's advice to girls at these dances is "start dancing with some one, anyone, an ugly one, or a male friend as a decoy, but look in demand."

A part of the market place are the cocktail meeting places. The girls hate these, you can see. They are on display, and the competition is keen. Sometimes they'll start up a conversation. Does boldness brand them as bad girls? I've made a complete study and this has nothing to do with it."

WEEKEND RESORTS

But the happy hunting grounds are weekend resorts. For the price of a date for dinner and the theater, a bachelor can have an evening and day of sports and social activities with a bevy of young girls there to be met who are paying for their own lodging.

"At the resorts you can see them under different circumstances and learn better what they are really like," he claims. "But the maneuvers have become so stereotyped. I can conduct a conversation with a girl without listening to her cues."

"You arrive and meet two or three nice-looking girls. But they are shy, on the defensive. Anyway you don't want to commit yourself because you might meet some one cuter later on in the evening."

MOSCOW (AP) — Spacewoman Valentina Treshkova-Nokolayev never told anyone she is pregnant, an official Soviet spokesman said Thursday.

There had been published reports that she was expecting her first child in late summer.

The sources said the formal announcement probably would be made after the birth of the queen's fourth child, expected in February or March.

"The dinner hour is like musical chairs, with the girls and fellows switching tables three or four times before the dessert."

"But the social hour, the dance, is the real rat race. In a dimly lit, smoky room are hordes of people switching back and forth, trying to be scintillating and clever above the din of forced laughter and blaring music."

"The girls in party dresses and hairdos don't look the same as they did in the afternoon and you look frantically but can't find the nice ones you liked earlier. After a while you'll settle for anybody."

"By the next day everybody seems to have met everybody else to swim or ski with and you won't make that mistake twice. You'll commit yourself on a Saturday afternoon. But the next Saturday you're back to thinking I'd better wait awhile until you've done the same fool thing all over again."

And that may very well be why procrastinating Bernie has remained a bachelor so long.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet authorities Thursday lowered a blanket of silence over Fidel Castro. The Cuban prime minister's visit was ignored by press and radio except for a brief item in "Moscow Pravda" from Havana that the Cubans were highly interested in the visit.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — An emissary from Patriarch Athanasios of Constantinople (Istanbul) called on Pope Paul VI Thursday to thank him for meeting the Orthodox spiritual leader in the Holy Land.

Metropolitan Athanasios, Orthodox archbishop of Britain, was received by the Roman Catholic ruler in the Apostolic Palace.

People In The News

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope says his Christmas tour to entertain American servicemen stationed overseas was the best possible therapy for the eye hemorrhages that have plagued him.

"My doctor took a look at me and said I can coast now — no more treatments for awhile," Hope told a Hollywood reporter in a telephone interview from San Francisco.

"In fact, he is convinced that the best therapy for me is applause."

Hope went to San Francisco expecting to re-enter Children's Hospital where he underwent treatment last month.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Francisco (Baby) Pignatari, millionaire Brazilian playboy, got a divorce in Las Vegas, Nev., from Virginia Ira Von Furstenberg on the ground of mental cruelty. Pignatari, 46, and his 22-year-old wife were married in 1961.

OTTAWA (AP) — Informed sources in Ottawa say Queen Elizabeth II is expected to visit Prince Edward Island and Quebec in October.

SWISS GUARDS

MAY LOSE JOBS

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors circulated at the Vatican Thursday that the 458-year-old Swiss guard may be a casualty in the modernization program of the Roman Catholic church.

Vatican officials said they had no information to support the rumors that the picturesquesque stalwarts in renaissance uniforms designed by Michelangelo would be eliminated. But Vatican circles felt there was possibly a good basis for the rumors.

Pope Paul VI told Roman nobles and aristocrats Tuesday their ceremonial roles at the Vatican might be changed. He noted that the nobles had a special place at the Vatican because of ties to the papacy when it had temporal power. Now, he said, the papacy was entirely absorbed in spiritual duties.

Swiss guards also play largely a ceremonial role at the Vatican. The guard dates its foundation from Jan. 21, 1506, when 150 Swiss soldiers entered Rome to serve Pope Julius II.

In 1527, 147 out of 189 Swiss guards were killed while successfully defending Pope Clement VII from German and Spanish troops sacking Rome.

The guards still vow to fight to the death to defend the Pope.

Colorado Republicans who have leaned toward Goldwater in the past expect to make some decisions at a meeting in Denver this weekend on whether they will back Sen. Gordon Allott as a favorite son.

OTHERS MAY FOLLOW

If Colorado puts its 18 votes in the pot for Allott, the senator's friends hope Idaho will follow suit with its 14 and Wyoming with its 12.

Kentucky Republicans may designate either Sen. Thruston B. Morton or his colleague, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, as a favorite son to hold the state's 24 votes.

In Minnesota, former Rep. Walter H. Judd has agreed to let his name go on the list. That state delegation will cast 28 votes.

COULD BE CHANGED

A sweep in the presidential primaries could alter this situation by collapsing some of the favorite son movements.

For practical purposes, however, the number of primaries influencing delegate votes where contests are likely has been reduced to 10, with a total of 229 convention votes. These include New Hampshire, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, South Dakota, Oregon and California.

Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania have been eliminated from the primary lists by favorite son arrangements. Wisconsin Republicans plan to give their 30 votes to Rep. John W. Byrnes, Ohio's 58 will go to Gov. James A. Rhodes, and Pennsylvania's 64 to Gov. William W. Scranton. Michigan, without a primary, will cast its 48 votes for Gov. George Romney.

EARLY FAVORITE

Scranton, who is looked upon as a potential major candidate, got a hint Wednesday that he might become an early ballot beneficiary of New Jersey's 40 convention votes. That state has a primary, but major contenders may avoid it.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., the state's top Republican office holder, listed Scranton as a "very attractive possibility" for the nomination. He said the governor is "very hot at the moment."

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Senate, called the world's most exclusive club, is still very choosy, as the Bobby Baker case and other events show.

It has two sets of rules on conduct: One for other people; a different one for members of the Senate.

For the past 14 years or so, but particularly this year, liberal senators have called on the House and Senate to do unto themselves what they do to others.

KEATING'S VIEWS

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republican, put it this way:

"Congress is constantly laying down regulations for the conduct of those in the executive branch, telling them what they should and shouldn't do."

"It is not right for us to exempt the legislative branch from the rules and regulations we have imposed on the executive branch."

He called it a double-standard and said "it has undermined confidence in our good faith."

DOESN'T APPLY TO THEM

This is "what he was talking about."

Congress has taken various steps to prevent conflict of interest among employees of the executive branch of government. Conflict of interest can be described as mixing a government job with personal gain.

Congress has not only passed a law against conflict of interest among executive branch employees but subsequently tightened and broadened it.

Congressional committees require men appointed by the President to his Cabinet to get rid of stock they hold in companies dealing with the government.

None of this applies to members of Congress or employees of Congress.

BILLS IGNORED

Various liberal senators have proposed legislation — which Congress has consistently ignored — for Congress to establish a code of ethics for itself and its employees on conflict of interest.

There were more such demands, also ignored, when the Robert G. Baker case broke, although not through disclosure in Congress.

Baker, who had been secretary of the Democratic majority in the Senate for years, quit his job Oct. 7 when, as it became clear, he had wide-ranging financial interests and deals while working for the Senate.

STOPPED AS SENATORS

The Senate finally authorized its Rules Committee to investigate to see whether Baker's outside activities had conflicted with his official duties.

It went further: It authorized the investigation into the financial or business interests or activities of any officer or employee of the Senate, if the Baker investigation made that necessary.

The Senate stopped there. It didn't authorize the committee to investigate any senator who might have been involved with Baker.

IGNORED AGAIN

Yet, the Senate's Democratic majority leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, revealed Senate employees who owe their jobs to the Democrats are being required to list their assets and sources of income.

A number of liberal senators had previously demanded that members of the Senate itself be required to list publicly their assets and income. This was neatly ignored.

Nevertheless, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, North Carolina Democrat and chairman of the Rules Committee's investigation of Baker, said two months ago that any leads uncovered would be followed up regardless of who was involved. He said he had no indication any senator was involved.

This week a witness said Sen. George Smathers, Florida Democrat, was in with Baker in a land deal in Florida.

RAISED A QUESTION

Later Smathers said in a statement:

He had sold Baker and another man one-eighth interest each in his share of the land venture because they were young men raising families.

Would Smathers now be called to testify before Jordan's committee? Jordan said: "We don't need him — we're not investigating senators."

And he added this: If the committee needs any additional in-

President Judge Adrian Bonnelly of County Court acquitted Moore Thursday of extorting $1,000 from a builder in return for passage of an ordinance to remove a street from the city plan in 1958.

Bonnelly heard the two-hour case without a jury.

EMPHATIC DENIALS

Judge Bonnelly said Moore's honesty, integrity and veracity had been testified to by prominent character witnesses. They included former Mayor Richardson Dilworth and Joseph Sharpe, chairman of the State Public Utility Commission.

Moore took the stand briefly.

He was asked by Judge Bonnelly: "Did you ever talk to a man named Mark and tell him that unless he contributed $1,000 to the Democratic City Committee he could not obtain passage of an ordinance?"

"Most emphatically, no," replied Moore.

or tall.

LOW-CALORIE MEALS

Through research and development, new fabrics and designs are being introduced to the clothing market. Among them are fabrics featuring quilting, embossing, or combinations of both finishes.

Some simple quilted patterns feature geometric designs, while other patterns are detailed with floral or complex geometric figures. In some quilted fabrics, a fiber batt is joined to an outer and lining fabric. The batt usually is made of a synthetic fiber or a blend of fibers. Another type of quilted fabric uses a foam laminated fabric.

A chemical process is the newest quilting method. It gives a stitched effect although no needles, needle holes, thread, or machine stitches are used.

Embossed designs are mechanically imprinted on a plain weave fabric, or on the smooth surfaces of satin or sateen weave fabrics. Depending on the durability of the finish, fabrics may retain embossed designs through many washings or dry cleanings.

Quilted and embossed fabrics are available in yard goods, and are used in ready-to-wear casual and sports garments.

PATTERN TYPES

Begin with a pattern sized to your figure and you'll have fewer sewing problems.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, considered by many a top Republican presidential prospect for 1964, says the GOP stands a "good chance" of victory no matter who it nominates.

But he refused to make any final predictions, claiming it would be unrealistic at this point.

Still insisting steadfastly that he does not want the nomination, Scranton told his weekly news conference Thursday the GOP nominee should stand for a strong foreign policy including "brinkmanship."

NOT A CANDIDATE

"People talk a great deal about the horrors of brinkmanship," Scranton declared. "I don't quite know what they mean, because whenever we get into a crisis with the Soviet bloc—or for that matter with anybody—it seems to me you must take a strong position in order to have any effectiveness with the communist group or the Soviet Union. This has been proved many times."

Scranton repeated that he is not a candidate, is doing nothing to obtain the nomination and "will only accept a sincere and honest draft the same as any decent American."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMALE

According to Matthew, "the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, arise, and take the young child, and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring the word; for Herod will seek the young child and destroy him. When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night and departed into Egypt."

What faith it took for Joseph to leave his home and carpenter shop and take Mary and the infant Jesus on a hazardous journey over rough country into an unknown land. And it was this very faith, which he had already displayed under even more trying circumstances, that carried the Holy Family to safety.

AP Newsfeatures —

Asked about how Mrs. Scranton feels, the governor replied: "Mary feels exactly the same way as I do."

Scranton said he would be willing to hold the favorite son spot with the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco, but only as a method for maneuvering.

The news conference came just two hours after Republican state chairman Craig Traux told newsmen he planned to make as many friends as he could for Scranton around the country "so he'll have an army ready many times."

Scranton repeated that he is not a candidate, is doing nothing to obtain the nomination and "will only accept a sincere and honest draft the same as any decent American."

REJECTED NO ONE

"As it now stands, Scranton has an excellent chance of getting the nomination," Traux said.

However, Scranton said he has asked Traux not to boom him for President or national office.

As for his own choice for the GOP nomination, Scranton said he has rejected no one.

"I think the Republican nominee has a good chance to be elected in November, no matter who he is," Scranton said. "But I think anybody who attempts to predict now what's going to happen in November is not very realistic."

STUDYING PAIR

Meanwhile, he is continuing his study of the two announced candidates, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"But what a person says before he becomes an active candidate has little bearing because it may not be taken in the context in which it was uttered," Scranton said.

The governor also maintained he is reluctant to accept invitations to speak at out-of-state political rallies "because it might be interpreted as if I am running and I am not running."

AGREES WITH IKE

Scranton has received over 100 invitations to speak in California and Oregon, but he plans to refuse.

On foreign policy, Scranton said he agreed with the stands taken by former presidents Harry Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, on Korea, Lebanon and Cuba.

"I'm not for backing down on the treaty arrangement in Panama either," he added.

It marked the second time in less than a month that Scranton stated his stand on "brinkmanship," a term commonly applied to unyielding foreign policy in some areas. The word was coined after former secretary of state John Foster Dulles said American policy included going to the brink of war.

REJECTED NO ONE

"As it now stands, Scranton has an excellent chance of getting the nomination," Traux said.

However, Scranton said he has asked Traux not to boom him for President or national office.

As for his own choice for the GOP nomination, Scranton said he has rejected no one.

"I think the Republican nominee has a good chance to be elected in November, no matter who he is," Scranton said. "But I think anybody who attempts to predict now what's going to happen in November is not very realistic."

He's got to be more specific in his statements before I can answer that one," said Scranton in reply to a question asking him to comment on Goldwater's statement.

DENIES DELAY

In other news conference developments:

Reapportionment — The Pennsylvania AFL-CIO has filed suit in the federal court opposing the state's legislative reapportionment. Asked to comment, Scranton said the state had to pass legislation according to its own constitution and cannot act otherwise until the U. S. Supreme Court lays down guidelines on redistricting.

The AFL-CIO suit also alleges that Scranton delayed signing the bills deliberately. The governor denied that. He noted that Pennsylvania law allowed him two additional days beyond the date he actually signed the measures, approved in December by the Legislature. He signed the bills into law last Thursday.

CRITIC GIVES HER VIEWS ON TV'S PURPOSE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"Network television is a mass medium and only justifies its existence when it interests the mass of people. It should not be expected to substitute for the roles of parent, teacher, psychiatrist, social worker, or even philanthropist."

That is the opinion of the well-known art critic and writer, Aline Saarinen, whose professional involvement with network broadcasting goes back only a year. Widow of the famous architect Eero Saarinen, she is a member of NBC's "Today Show," editorializing often sharply—on art, contemporary design, architecture and allied subjects.

CHANGES VIEWS

"There was a period when I, along with many critics of the medium, thought that if a program attracted only one or two million people—and was worthwhile, that it was justified," she continued. "I feel rather strongly now that if most people are looking at some one else's program and not at yours, it is the fault of the broadcaster."

She was addressing herself rather directly to the frequent suggestion that broadcasters should consult with leaders to find the best ways of serving a community's needs and desires.

DEPLORES PRACTICE

"That would be fine if anybody really knew community tastes," she continued. "The fact is that all people like what they know. And it is also certain that most community leaders only know what the public ought to like."

Mrs. Saarinen deplored that in many areas, including Washington, television "gets good points if it puts on a ballet, even if it is bad ballet like that Stravinsky thing last year."

"Whereas it gets no points at all when it puts on a good 'Defenders' episode that comes to grips with truth, or a good 'Bonanza' that makes fine entertainment. We're still stuck, in many quarters with an attitude that a non-sponsored and sustaining problem is good, while one that is sponsored is undoubtedly popular, and therefore less good."

TOPS FOR WEEKEND

Recommended weekend viewing:

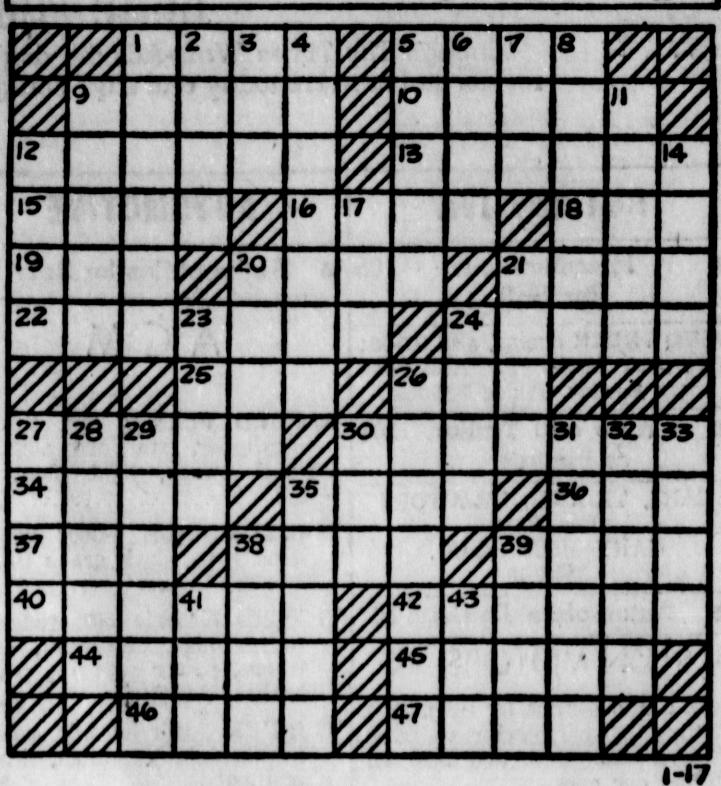

Tonight—Bob Hope Christmas Show, NBC, 8:30-10 (Eastern Standard Time)—Filmed excerpts from the comedian's holiday trip to U. S. military bases in the Middle East with a troupe that included Tuesday Weld, Anita Bryant and, of course, Jerry Colonna.

Saturday—"The Defenders," CBS, 8:30-9:30 p.m., an episode dealing with a performer whose name appears on a blacklist.

Sunday—"Lucia de Lammermoor," NBC, 2-4 p.m., an English-language production of the Donizetti work by the NBC Opera Company; annual Bing Crosby golf tournament, NBC, 5:45-30, final holes from Pebble Beach course; "The Art of Collecting," NBC, 10-11.
